ROOFING SLATE!

TWIN CITY SLATE MINING

AND

MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

J. S. NEWMYER, S. H. ANDERSON, J. W. SHALLENBERGER, President. Secretary. Superintendent.

OFFICE,

No. 43 Seventh Street, Pittsburg, Pa.

It is believed that the time has come in the progress of American architecture, when the question will no longer be asked, "What shall we use for roofing?" but, "WHERE CAN WE OBTAIN THE BEST SLATE?"—Older countries have long since established the fact that no material is so well adapted, and so durable, as Slate for covering buildings. Two obstacles to its general use in this country have existed heretofore: first, the transition character of society, which is necessarily opposed to permanence in architecture and second, the great abundance and low price of lumber. The first impediment is rapidly yielding to time and riper ideas on the subject of building, and the other must soon give away to the scarcity and advancing price of lumber suitable for roofing purposes.

We submit a few leading advantages of a Slate roof:

It is superior to every other in appearance.

It is easily put on.

It saves insurance.

It is fire proof.

It is imperishable.

The Twin City Slate Company's Mines are in Northampton County, Penn'a. The Slate is a beautiful dark blue, unchangeable in color, splits in perfectly smooth plates of any size required, and hardens steadily by exposure to the atmosphere. No Slate in the United States is superior to it, in all the qualities essential to a good roof, and we think but little equal to it. It is furnished at the yard in Pittsburgh, at the rate of $12.00 a square (one hundred square feet), which with expense of laying, will add about 25 per cent. to the cost of a shingle roof at present prices.

Samples of Slate may be seen, and orders left at the office of A. T. Shallenberger & Co., Rochester, Pa.

Parties at a distance, can address J. S. Newmyer, No. 43 Seventh street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Suggestions to Young Teachers.

III.

34. In the class-room, Teachers should not confine the attention of the pupils exclusively to what is found in the books. "Books are but helps," or instruments; and while that which is contained in them should be judiciously used and thoroughly understood, yet, so far as time will permit, the Teacher can, to advantage, introduce such matters as are not only valuable in themselves, but as will tend to impress the subject of the lesson more firmly upon the mind.

35. Be judicious and sparing in awarding credit or discredit marks; to be lavish, would render them cheap and comparatively valueless.

36. Before reproving delinquents in lessons, first inquire whether or not they have studied, and if so, what effort has been made.—Some pupils may devote much time and labor to the acquirement of their lessons, and yet in the class-room be weak in recitation; and so denounce such would tend to DISCOURAGE rather than ADVANCE.

37. When disorder is the result of the absence or inattention of the Teacher, the pupil should not be reproved in proportion to the amount of wrong committed. A pupil should not be tempted to do wrong. Hence, Teachers should not, but when actually necessary, leave the class-rooms; and at the close of the day, not until all the pupils have been dismissed, and the rooms and furniture arranged in proper order.

38. Whether or not punishment is to be resorted to in maintaining order in a class-room, depends, in nine cases out of ten, upon the mode of discipline and interest excited by the Teacher; hence, it is unreasonable to punish or censure a pupil for that which arises from a defect in the management by the Teacher.

39. Never exhibit a quick temper or fretful disposition; and by no means give way to SCOLDING. Let any necessary rebuke be administered with determination, coolness, and becoming dignity.

40. Excessive or unreasonable corporeal punishment is justly to be condemned; but also give tongue-lashing, resorted to by some Teachers, infinitely worse. All such punishments as confinement in dark rooms, striking with the hand, pulling hair or ears, should be entirely abolished.

41. Encourage as MUCH, and reprove as LITTLE as possible.

42. A Teacher should not be interfered within the government of his or her class, while in actual command, not even by the Principal. The Teacher, of whatever grade, should, in the estimation of the pupil, be principal of his or her own class. Any suggestions or advice from the Principal should in all cases, be apart from the observation of the school or class; otherwise, the authority of the Teacher is, in the mind of the pupil, weakened; for if the Principal manifest a lack of confidence in the Teacher, so will the latter. Also, for the Assistant to appeal unnecessarily to the Principal in maintaining order in the class, is a great mistake; for the pupil is thereby impressed with the idea that his Teacher is INCOMPETENT, or he would manage without assistance. Pupils should not be sent to the Principal for reproof, except for absolute disobedience. All else being settled by the Teacher unaided, increases his authority, and secures for him the respect of the pupil. When a Teacher is obliged to send an unruly pupil out of the class-room, he should, at the time, explain the nature of the offense to the Principal—said explanation to be made to the Principal alone.

Problems.

No. 1. A.'s fortune added to ⅔ of B.'s, which is to A.'s as 5 is to 3, being put on interest for 6 years at 4 per cent., amounts to $124. What is the fortune of each?

No. 2. C. and D. lost in business $20,000, then made 40 per cent on their remaining capital, when they found they had made on the whole 20 per cent. on their first capital. What was each one's capital, if C.'s was to D.'s as 4 to 5?

No. 3. At 20 minutes past 4 o'clock, how long will it be before the minute-hand will be opposite the hour-hand?

No. 4. If ⅘ of John's money equals ⅔ of mine, and ⅓ of his and one half of mine amounts to $5,604, if put on interest for 4 years at 7 per cent., how much is each of us worth?

No. 5. If A. give B. ⅕ of his money, B. will have ⅓ more more than he has now; but if B. give A. $30, A. will have 20 per cent. more than he now has. What amount has each, if B.'s is 3 times A.'s?

Solutions.

Examples of June 3d.

No. 1. At 5 per cent. per annum for 3 years 2-5 of the principal equals the interest, hence $3100 is 7 fifths of the principal, and the principal is, therefore, 5 times the 1 seventh of $3100, equal $1500.

This, according to the conditions of the question, is ⅗ of A.'s and ⅕ of B.'s money.—But ⅕ B.'s money equals 2 times ⅗—that is 4 thirds—A.'s money. Evidently then ⅗ of A.'s money equal ⅘ of B.'s; and ⅘ B.'s plus ⅗ of A.'s is the same as ⅘ of B.'s, which is $1500. B.'s money then is 4 times the ⅕ of $1500 equal $2000. If ⅗ of B.'s money—that is $1000—equals 4 thirds of A.'s money, A. must have 3 times the ⅓ of $1000 equal

And from vanity no more,
He ought to see, and yet will not,
That people have got rich before,
By minding their own business.

No. 2. If B. bought the horse from A. for ⅗ its cost, A. lost ⅕ what he paid for it; and if B sold it for 7 fifths what it cost A. he gained the difference between 7 fifths and ⅘ equal 11 fifthteenths. But B. gained $48 more than A. lost; hence, since A. lost ⅕, and B. gained ⅓ plus 2-5 equal 11 fifteenths, $48 must equal the difference between 11 fifteenths and ⅓ equal 6 fifteenths of what A. paid for the horse; and if $48 is 6 fifteenth the cost, it cost 15 times the 1-6 of $48, equal $120. If A. paid $120 for the horse and sold him to B. at a loss of 1-6 the cost, B. paid $80 for it. If B. sold him for 7 fifths what A. paid for him, he sold him for 7 times 1-5 of $120 equal $168; hence he gained $168 minus $80 equal $88, which is $48 more than A. lost.

No. 3. The side of a square piece of land containing 20 acres is 56.56 rods long; hence at $2 per rod it would cost $452.48 to fence it. The area of a circle is found by multiplying the square of its diameter by the decimal .7854; or by multiplying the square of its radius by 3.1416; hence if we divide the area by .7854, we get for our quotient the square of its diameter; and if we divide by 3.1416, we get the square of its radius. If then we divide 3200 rods—that is 200 acres—by .7854 we obtain the square of the diameter of a circle whose area is 20 acres.

If then we extract the square root of this quotient, we have the diameter; and, this root multiplied by 3,1416 gives the circumference of or length of fence in rods necessary to enclose a circle containing 20 acres, which is 200½ feet nearly. This at $2 per rod would cost $401, or $51,48 less than to fence a square containing 20 acres.

No. 4. Similar solids are to each other as the cubes of their like dimensions; hence like dimensions of similar solids are to each other as the cube root of their solidities. This is a truth established by Geometry. The solidity of a sphere is found by multiplying the cube of its diameter by .5236.

To find how many bullets ½ of an inch in diameter are required to make a ball 1 inch in diameter, we can either compare the diameters or the solidities.

The cube of ½ is in decimals .015625, and the cube of 1 is 1. We then say: as the cube of ½ is to the cube of 1 so is 1 to x, which we find to be 64; hence it will require 64 bullets ½ of an inch in diameter to make 1 ball 1 inch in diameter.

No. 5. The area of a circle is found by multiplying the square of the diameter by the decimal .7854. The area of a circle whose diameter is 6 feet is 28,3744. A circle of 40 times as much area embraces 1130.976 square feet. This sum divided by the decimal .7854 gives the square of the diameter of a circle whose area is 1130.976 square feet, which is 1440. The square root of 1440 is nearly 38; this multiplied by 3,1416 gives 118.3808 feet, which is the circumference of a circle that contains 40 times as much area as a circle whose diameter is 6 feet.

A YOUNG man sent his father in the country his photograph, saying that he was poor and required money. The father refused, stating that he could not be very poor to be living surrounded by marble vases, rosewood furniture and choice flowers, as his photograph represented him to be.

He is reputed to be worth $100,000, more or less, and is known to be worth over $70,000. He has three brothers who are clergymen—two of them being Presbyterians and the other a Baptist—and is reported to have once been a minister of the Gospel himself. He is known formerly to have been a school-teacher, and is a man of education and fine natural powers. He was originally a good man, and is yet a good fellow in many respects. Were it not for his good qualities he never could have attained unto the bad eminence of being the Wickedest Man in New York.

The best bad is always the worst.

Take him all in all, our Wickedest Man is a phenomenon. He reads the Bible to his dance-house girls, and his favorite papers are the New York Observer and the Independent.—He takes them regularly and reads them. We have repeatedly seen them lying on the counter of his bar room, amid decanters and glasses, along with the daily Herald and The Sun. We have also seen a dozen copies of the Little Wanderers' Friend at a time scattered about his place, for he takes an interest in mission work and "goes in" generally for progress for other people.

This Wickedest Man is the only entity appertaining to the shady side of New York life which we have been unable to fathom, analyze and account for. But he is too much for us. Why a human being of his education, natural tastes, force of character and wealth, should continue to live in a Water street dance-house, and bring up his children in a soul-destroying atmosphere of sin and degredation, is more than we can comprehend.

For this Wickedest Man loves his children. His little five-year-old is the apple of his eye, the core of his heart, and the chief object of his worship. He never misses an opportunity to laund the child's praises and to show off this accomplishments. And, all things considered, the little fellow is truly a wonder. He is crammed full of information on all manner of topics, and is ever ready to respond to his doting father's attempts to make his smartness visible to the naked eye.

We have never visited the Wickedest Man's dance-house without having our attention called afresh to his little son's ability, except once, and then he took us round to the school which the child attends, to let us see that he ranks with he best, and is a favorite with his teacher. This on the 28th day of May last, at about a quarter to 12 in the day-time, when we went to 304 Water street to tell Mr. Allen that the fated time had come for serving him up in a magazine article.

For, be it known to the reader we have had our pen couched at John Allen for nearly two years. In the year 1865, the Sabbath after President Lincoln was assassinated, we began an exploration and subsoiling of New York city, as to its crime, poverty, want, woe, wretchedness and degredation, which we have pursued ever since, as other engagement would permit. Of course, it was not long before we found out John Allen. We at once recognized his genius for wickedness, and made him an especial study. But, as we have said, he baffles us. We told him so, and have frequently asked him to help us out of our dilemma, but he always comes short of the complete thing.

We think we know why this Wickedest Man persists in living in his Water street den—that we have, in fact, penetrated his secret; but as we are not absolutely certain as to the matter, we will not set our suspicion down in print, lest we should do him injustice.

We have said that our Wickedest Man is a phenomenon. We mean this in its application to the deepest springs of his character; but it is also, and perhaps equally applicable to the external manifestations of those deepest springs.

Has the reader any notion of a Water street dance-house? Concretely stated, it is a breathing hole of hell—a trap-door of the bottomless pit. You step from the street into a bar-room, wherein lousy loafers lurk, and which is in some cases on a level with the sidewalk, and in others far below it; and there you are in the general midst of things, if it happens to be a dance-house of the very lowest class. But as usally there is a "saloon" in the rear of the bar room.

Passing out of the bar-room, by a door opening in a partition across its rear, you enter the dancing saloon, which varies in size from fifteen feet square, to a room twenty-five by fifty feet in extent. Along the wall of this room a bench extends, usually on three sides. In the farther end of the room is an orchestra, proportioned in numbers and skill to the prosperity of the establishment. The number of musicians is sometimes as high as six, but the average is not more than three. In one of the rear corners of the saloon there is a small bar, where the girls can drink with their victims without exposing their fascinations to the unthrifitful gaze of a non-paying and censorious outside public.

Sitting on the benches, or grouped upon the floor, or whirling in the dance, are the girls, varying in number from four to twenty, but averaging about ten.

These girls are not often comely to the fastidious eye. But to a sailor, just from a long cruise, where nothing lovelier than his weather-beaten shipmates has for years been seen, they are not without attractions. So, too do certain landsmen, of a degraded type, pay homage to their strenuous charms. But a decent man, in the full possession and equipoise of his faculties, can only regard them with sorrow unspeakable, and pity too deep for tears.

The only girl we ever saw in a dance house in whom we could detect the slightest vestige of comeliness or refinement, had been there but a few hours, and was reputed to be the daughter of a former Lieutenant Governor of a New England State.

The first time we entered John Allen's dance house, we found it in full blast. The hour was eleven in the evening. There were thirteen girls in the saloon, three musicians in the orchestra, and seven customers submitting to the blandishments of an equal number of the ballet-dressed syrens who pervaded the room. Our party consisted of the policeman who accompanied us, three clergymen on the look out for the "elephant," Mr. Albert C. Arnold, of the Howard Mission, and the writer.

The Wickedest Man was in his glory.—Things were moving briskly. He gave us all a hearty welcome, ordered the orchestra to do their best, and told the girls to "break our hearts." A vigorous dance followed, after which the proprietor called out:

"Hartford, go up stairs and get my baby."

Hartford turned to one of the girls, who immediately disappeared, and soon returned bearing in her arms an undressed, sleepy child, wrapped in a shawl. This was the juvenile prodigy. His father took him in his arms, with a glow of pride and affection upon his face, and said:

"Now gentlemen, you are writers, philosophers, and preachers; but I'll show you that my baby knows as much as any of you. He's hell on reading, writing, praying, and fighting."

And without more ado, he stood the sleepy little fellow upon the floor and began to catechise him in ancient history, both sacred and profane, and then in modern history, geography, the political history of the United States, etc., etc., with a result which astonished us all. Suddenly he exclaimed,

"Chester, give us a song."

And Chester, for that is the child's name, gave us a song.

"Now, Chester give us a break-down." The orchestra played a "break-down," and Chester danced it with precision and vigor, his mother looking on with delight.

"Now Chester give us a prayer."

And the child recited, first, the Lord's prayer and then others in succession, mixed with which were such ribaldry and profanity on the father's part as to cut to the heart. And here it was that we got a glimpse of the preeminent wickedness of the man—wickedness to him unknown, and all the worse because of his unconsciousness of it; wickedness which is leading him to train up that idolized boy in a way and in an atmosphere which will yet make him an object of loathing even to his own heart.

For that dance-house child there seems to be no spiritual hope. The sacred and the profane are so intermingled in his childish understanding that he will never be able to tell which is sacred and which is profane; and his nature being dogged and combative, he will grow up into the highest possible type of wickedness, if he grows up at all. Of the thousands of painful cases wherewith we have met in this city, that of little Chester Allen gives us about the keenest pang.

After the infant phenomenon had been sent back to bed, his father asked our party if we wouldn't "mix in" and have a dance with the girls.

"It'll do you good," said he, "to trip it a little on the light fantastic. Besides, I like to do the fair thing by distinguished visitors.—I'm fond of literary people, and especially of clergymen. I've three brothers myself who adorn the sacred calling; and grit and grace run through our family, like the Tigris and the Jordan through the Holy Land. Go in, gentlemen; the girls shan't hurt you. I'll watch over you like a hen over her chickens, and you shall leave my premises as virtuous as—you came in! Ha, ha! Come, what shall it be?"

On being assured that we would not "trip it on the light fantastic," he asked us if we (that is our party,) would not favor the girls with a song, whereupon Mr. Arnold suggested that we should all sing together, and asked the girls what they would like best. Several of them immediately responded in favor of "There is Rest for the Weary."

"Do you know that?" one of the clergymen asked.

"Yes," answered at least half-a-dozen of the girls.

"Where did you learn it?" asked another of the clergymen.

"At Sabbath school," was the reply.

We all looked at one another. Here was a revelation. These girls had been brought up to attend Sabbath school! Perhaps they were the daughters of Christian parents! But we had not time to pursue this painful speculation for the girls began to sing—

"In the Christian's home in Glory
There is a land of rest;
And my Savior's gone before me,
To fulfill my soul's request.

CHORUS.

There is rest for the weary,
There is rest for you.
On the other side of Jordan,
In the sweet fields of Eden,
Where the Tree of Life is blooming,
There is rest for you."

And oh, with what fervor and pathos the sang—especially the chorus—which, at the end of each verse, they sang three times over some of them, at last, weeping as they sang. What girlish memories those sweet, simple strains evoked. Memories perhaps of once happy homes, and affectionate Sabbath school teachers, and beloved companions, so sweetly contrasting with their dance-house condition. And so those soul-weary creatures lingered fondly upon, and repeated over and over again, the lines:

On the other side of Jordan,
In the sweet fields of Eden,
Where the Tree of Life is blooming,
There is rest for you!"

Since that occasion we have repeatedly visited the abode of the Wickedest Man in New York, for the purpose of "studying him up," and of trying to hit upon some means of inducing him to abandon his course of life, and of saving his boy. For in truth, we not only feel an interest in, but also rather like him, wicked as he is. And so does nearly everybody whom we have taken to see him; and we have taken scores—most of them clergymen.

But all our efforts to get any vital hold upon him have been in vain. He is always cordial; always ready to let the girls, "have a spiritual sing;" will even permit a little exhortation to them in his dancing saloon; and is free with his Observer and Independent. But he keeps on his way with unyielding pertinacity.

On one occasion a party of us suggested that he should let us hold a prayer meeting in his saloon. After a little reflection he replied:

"Well, no, gentlemen; I can't go that. You know that every man must have regard to his profession and the opinion of his neighbors. What with my Observer, and Independent, and you fellows coming here and singing camp meeting hymns, I am already looked upon in the neighborhood as being rather loose and unsound; and, if a top of all that, I should let you hold a prayer-meeting here, I should lose what little character I've got left."

THE LOAFER.—The most miserable and hopeless scrap of humanity, is an idle man—a man whose chief aim is to loaf; to waste in listless lounging and physical inaction, the best years of his life. There are numbers of such beings here, and in every other town, miserable loafers whose sole occupation is to avoid employment of any kind, whose lives can scarcely be called lives, who die one after another, and leave behind them—what? A vacancy to be mourned? No, for

THE Colored (Miss.) Index says: Wherever heard from the colored voters are standing up like men for their Democratic friends.—In counties and precincts where they largely outvoted the Whites they have voted down the Radical Constitution by overwhelming majorities. The Democracy, in the hour of victory, will not forget the services which its colored allies rendered.

THE Democratic party at the present time is doing its utmost to persuade the laboring people of this country that it, and it alone, is in sympathy with them, and intent on promoting their interests. Before these persons are influenced to any great extent by the foolish clap-trap of the "same money for the boudholder that the laborer gets, and greenbacks for all," we wish to remind them of an incident or two in the history of that party which will serve to show the love it had for the poor man when it had the power to accomplish some good in his behalf.

A good many years ago when James Buchanan was a representative from this State, in Congress he made a speech in that body in opposition to a protective tariff, in which he took the ground that ten cents per day was all an American laborer should have for his services. That was the sum paid in Europe at that time for a days work, and Mr. Buchan. an declared that European labo rers made out to live comfortably on that paltry amount. This argument was not only intended to do a vital injury to the laboring classes of this country by bringing their wages down to the standard of pauper labor in the old countries but it was an unmitigated affront besides.—One would think from what he hears now that the Democracy disavowed these sentiments at that time and read their author out of the party. But did they do it? Not at all. On the contrary it made him more popular than ever, and but a few years later the whole Democratic party joined together and elected him President of the United States. They did not sympathize very heartily with the laboring men at that time, as this scrap of history clearly proves. At about this same time United States Senator Hammond (another Democrat) of South Carolina, made a speech in the Senate in which he assumed that the laboring men should not be allowed the ballot, and in referring to those in the Northern States he called them the "mud-sills of society," with all the scorn he could command.

The Democracy have shown their love for the laboring classes in still another way. That party held almost undisturbed possession of this Government for nearly half a century preceding the rebellion. During all that time they held several millions of laboring men in bondage, and compelled them to work for nothing, not even feeding and clothing them decently. And not content with this, they next made war upon the Government and committed all manner of crime and outrage to establish this peculiar love upon a firm, enduring basis; and they are now howling like so many hyenas because they are not permitted to compel these same laboring men to go to work without wages again. With these facts fresh in the public mind the laboring man, whether he be white or black, who is deceived by Democratic professions of sympathy at the present time is as verdant as a grass lot in mid spring.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON issued his much-talked-of amnesty proclamation on last Saturday (July 4th). He extends a pardon to all the rebels of the country excepting only those who have indictments pending against them.

It is generally supposed that he issued this proclamation, at the time he did, to influence the New York Convention so that he might become its nominee for President. If so, the movement was a complete failure, for it had no discernible effect upon the Convention whatever.

AN ex-Colonel of the rebel army arrived at New York on last Wednesday evening in the character of a delegate to the National Democratic Convention which convened there on the 4th. His fellow Democrats were glad to see him, and they insisted on hearing him too. Accordingly they got up a meeting at the Metropolitan club headquarters and invited him to make a speech. He attended and about the first thing he told his hearers, was that he was not in the habit of making speeches, but as he was a delegate to the Democratic Convention he thought he ought to say something. He went on to say that he had been a soldier in the rebel army, but he declared he "never desired to fire on the flag of the Union, however eager he may have been to shoot down the standard-bearers." This remark was vociferously applauded, and seems to have struck a responsive chord in the crowd listening to him. But while these bloated and blear-eyed traitors were gratified at the brutal words of this unrepentant rebel colonel, how will his remarks fall upon the ears of those who had fathers, brothers, and sons slain while servingin the Union army? Will they forget their fallen kindred so soon as to curse in this campaign as he curses, and vote as he directs them to for President and Vice-President of the United States? If any do this their duplicity entitles them to the commiseration of all mankind.

THE "Pendleton escort," which went from Cincinnatti to the New York Convention was made up of genuine democrats. If any one is so verdant as to believe that out of the three hundred men composing it a majority of them were tetotalers, he would perhaps arrive at a different conclusion after reading the following from the Cincinnati Commercial published the same day the escort left that place:

"The Pendleton escort is to leave by special train of the Little Miami Railroad, this afternoon at four o'clock, all the arrangements for departure having been completed last evening. It will probably arrive in New York at four o'clock of Thursday afternoon. It will be composed of about three hundred Cincinnatians, and the same number of persons from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. It will be accompanied by a band and a glee club, and the majority of its members will be uniformed in white hats and dusters. All will wear silver badges bearing the names "Cincinnati" and "Pendleton." The Escort will be received and entertained, for an hour or more, at Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, and will parade in both of those cities. The Escort takes along, in its commissary cars, fifteen barrels of whiskey,one hundred kegs of lager beer, and provisions enough to feed its members on the trip to New York."

THERE are quite a number of father's in in this county who lost their sons in battle while in the Union army. Wade Hampton's cavalry were here, there and everywhere during the war. It is very probable that quite a number of the sons here referred to, came to their death by means of bullets sent from the carbines of Hampton's cavalry.

This same Hampton heads the South Carolina delegation to the Democratic Convention which met in New York on last Saturday. He is a leading spirit in that body, and acts an influential part in dictating to these fathers who they must vote for for President and Vice-President of the United States. Fathers! If upon no other ground, vote against the ticket set up by this traitor and murderer and his copperhead confederates, out of respect to your sons who fell at his hands while carrying the flag of their country. You owe this much to the memory of your fallen braves, if even you are not in sympathy with the cause for which they gave up their lives.

QUITE a number of leading Democrats throughout the Northern States were free talkers and free actors during the war. That is they made it known that they were opposed to coercion, believed the South would whip, were sure it should win its independence, and thought that Union soldiers should be welcomed by the Southern cavaliers "with bloody hands to hospitable graves." To help their friends along who were fighting against the Union they organized such secret societies as the "Sons of Liberty," "Knights of the Golden Circle," &c., &c., and gave them all the material aid and information in their power. For indulging in such innocent and patriotic amusements a score or two of them were arrested by the military authorities, and "illegally, unconstitutionally and tyrannically confined in bastiles" until the war was over. Themselves and friends have been quietly denouncing "bastiles" from that day to this, but for a few years past the subject has not elicited the public discussion that it once did. Just now however, it promises to break out anew, and with increased violence: At the New York convention last week a Southern delegate was hard pressed for a bed. His landlord told him he must share the couch of an honest, burly dutchman. The delegate and the dutchman had both been indulging in lager pretty freely during the day. After retiring the dutchman's snoring was more than the delegate could stand, whereupon he "went for" the sleeping Teuton, kicked him out of bed, and raised "Ned generally" in the boarding house. The police came along just then, arrested the representative man, hustled him off to a "bastile" and kept him there until his "electricity" had expended itself. This was too much for the assembled democracy to stand. They protested, looked upon the whole proceeding as "illegal, unconstitutional and tyrannical," and threaten vengeance if all American "bastiles" are not closed up at once and forever. So be on your guard.

THE Republican Congressional Conferees for this district (the 24th) met at Pittsburgh at the Monongahela House yesterday (July 7) If a result has been reached yet we do not know what it is. The conferees are as follows: Beaver county, A. T. Shallenberger, S. Magaw and H. Hice; Lawrence county Samuel McKinley, J. W. Blanchard and Cyrus Clarke; Green county, John I. Worley, J. B. Morris and F. H. Crago; Washington county, A. Murdock, John Hall and Maj. Happer.

Each of the four counties composing the District presents a candidate. They are as follows: Beaver, M. Weyand; Lawrence, J. W. Wallace; Green, J. B. Donley, Washington. G. V. Lawrence.

MR PENDLETON said in Congress, in 1862: "You send these notes out in the world stamped with irredeemability. You put on them the mark of Cain, and, like Cain, they will go forth to be vagabonds and fugitives on the earth." And now he wants to pay off the debt with these "vagabonds." Certainly it is a vagabond proposition.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE Democratic Convention now in session at New York has not yet (Tuesday morning) made a nomination for President or Vice President, nor has it adopted a platform for the party. Horatio Seymour of New York is the permanent chairman of the Convention. The World figures up what the first ballot will be as follows: Pendleton 112; Hancock 63; Johnson 37; Church 35; Chase 9; Packer 26; Parker 7, English 29; Reverdy Johnson 7; Field 8; Hendricks 1.

We are inclined to the belief that Seymour has made up his mind that Grant will be elected President, and therefore he does not desire to be the candidate against him himself. When he runs he runs to win. Under these circumstances Seymour and Belmont will consent to Pendleton's being the nominee, but they will take good care to have him put upon a platform directly opposed to the one upon which Pendleton is standing upon at the present time. Mark that.

ANDY JOHNSON has written a letter in reply to several New York politicians who asked him to allow his name to be used in the Democratic convention as a candidate for President. In this reply he states, that now as ever, he is "in the hands of the people" and if the nomination is given him he will accept. His chances are about as good as our own, no better, no worse.

BEARING in mind the fact that a huge negro, duly elected and accredited, from Tennessee, appeared at the New York Democratic Convention on last Saturday as a delegate, and was admitted to a seat in that body, the question naturally suggests itself whether we have a "white man's party" in this country at the present time or not. We are slightly bewildered on that subject just now, and we will say "thank you" in our most amiable manner if some leading Democrat will furnish us with the needed information.

THE opposition press frequently assert that Grant was unsparing of the lives of his men and assail him as a butcher who recklessly sacrificed his troops. Now the facts of history effectually put this slander down. Before Grant took command, the Army of the Potomac lost in killed, wounded and missing 145,-118 men. The subsequent losses were 100,501. General Grant's operations embrace the great fighting which caused the rebellion to succumb. For his losses he had something to show, which cannot be said of the other commanders.

A WASHINGTON correspondent says of Grant and Colfax: "It is Colfax's aim only to keep the Republican party straight on the way to victory and public confidence by keeping it right, temperate and progressive. It is Grant's aim only to carry the country steady, make it satisfied, and give it peace. I doubt that any two candidates for mutual honors of so high a rank have ever schemed so little as these men. Both of them are confident in the country's verdict."

WE publish elsewhere a copy of Mr. Buchanan's inventory as filed in the Register's office. The whole amount is $350,582, and it is estimated that he gave away from fifty to ninety thousand dollars during the past few years. But the disgraceful part of this whole exhibit is that not one dollar of it is in United States securities.

We are not disposed to judge unkindly or harshly of the melancholy fact, that an ex-President of the United States, worth more than a third of a million, had not a dollar of his wealth invested in the debt of the nation at the time of his death. No United States Bonds in his inventory, though he drew most of his wealth out of the public treasury as an officer or representative of the government. No aid and comfort did he give to the government, by loaning it some of his large wealth. He was too true to Jefferson Davis and his cause, and was too anxious to verify his own prediction that he was the last President of the United States.—Lancaster Examiner.

EVERYBODY has heard of "the nigger in the wood pile," but who ever believed that a genuine Ethiopian, a full accredited delegate, with an actual constituency, would turn up in a Democratic National Convention! Such, however, hot as is the weather, is the naked truth and burning shame. The negro's name is Joe Williams, and he is from the State of Tennessee. He has his papers, and is the colleague of General Forrest, who, before the war, was the most extensive professional slave trader in all the South, and during the war, more especially at Fort Pillow, the most successful exterminator of the negro race of whom we have any knowledge. In these and kindred respects he is the most distinguished member of the Convention; but for all this Joe is said to feel not a little ashamed of him, and quite disposed to cut his acquaintance. However it may be between these two Tennessee delegates, we are confident we shall hear from the party no more about this being "a white man's government." Who ever believed that things would come to this pass in the bosom of the Democracy, whose creed has every time been that the negro has no rights which a white man is bound to respect! We shall expect to see Forrest and nigger Joe take a conspicuous part in the proceedings of the Convention.—Pitts. Commercial.

THE following list will show the status of the certain prominent members of the so-called National Democratic Convention:

B. H. Hill, delegate from Georgia, was in the Rebel Congress with Herschell V. Johnson, in 1861; and was elected again in 1864 to serve four years;

R. Barnwell Rhett was a Senator from South Carolina in the Rebel Congress in 1861, and was in the Legislature of South Carolina when that State passed the ordinance of secession.

In the Rebel House of Representatives the following named gentlemen figured; all of them prominent members of the Convention which is to be held in Tammany Hall today:

A. H. Garland, of Arkansas;
E. Barksdale, of Mississippi;
W. N. Smith, of North Carolina;
Thomas S. Bocock, of Virginia;
Wm. L. Bonham, of South Carolina;
Wade Hampton, of South Carolina;
Aug. R. Wright, of Georgia;
W. B. Machen, of Kentucky;
J. F. Goode, Jr., of Virginia.—N. Y. Tribune, of the 4th.

National Convention Items.

We clip the following items from the N. Y. Tribune of last Saturday:

TROUBLES OF AN INDIANA DELEGATE.

A few days since Mr. John N. Martin, a delegate from Indiana to the National Democratic Convention, put up at Sweeney's Hotel in Chatham st. On Thursday he indulged freely in intoxicating drinks, and late at night, on retiring, was very much inebriated. Owing to the crowded condition of the hotel Martin was forced to room with a respectable, and inoffensive German. During the night Martin became very boisterous, and finally kicked his companion out of bed. The frightened German fled from the room. Martin soon after dressed himself, and being somewhat delirious, left the hotel and wandered around the streets. He was subsequently found by the Police, evidently laboring under an attack of delirium tremens. He was yesterday taken before Justice Hogan at the Tombs, who seeing his condition, ordered him to be taken before Dr. Neelis, City Prison physician. To accomplish this, it required the efforts of four stout policeman. By order of Dr. Neelis, the unfortunate politician was removed to Bellevue Hospital for treatment.

It is not generally known that the renowned Daniel Rice, once a candidate for Congress in the XIX District of Pennsylvania, is now a recognized candidate for the Presidency on the straight out-and-out Democratic ticket. The illustrious showman, a special friend of Squire Hagenbush of Reading, and one of the best-informed menagerie men in the world, will undoubtedly, run as well in the Convention, as one of his trained mules in the sawdust. Dan. is supposed to be a very honest man for a Democrat, and in case of his nomination, will poll a large vote among the people of the several districts throughout the country. A handsome banner, bearing the legend, "The people's choice for President, Dan Rice, of Pennsylvania," now flaunts in the breeze at the corner of Broadway and Bleecker-st., and attracts much attention.

Fraudulent Voting.

The New York Tribune, speaking of the canvass in this State says:

Every Copperhead organ is now claiming Pennsylvania, on the strength of her last October contest, when Judge Sharswood was re-elected by a few votes, put through by means of Naturalization papers forged for the purpose. The county of Luzerne has notoriously been a focus of these frauds for years. See how her poll has been swelled by them:

Republican.		Democratic.
1860—Lincoln	7,300	Fusion	6,503
1862—Cochran	5,768	Slenker	8,389
1863—Curtin	7,023	Woodward	9,808
1864—Lincoln	7,645	McClellan	10,045
1865—Hartranft	6,126	Davis	6,916
1866—Geary	8,733	Clymer	12,387
1867—Williams	7,995	Sharswood	10,404

These monstrous majorities for McClellan, Clymer and Sharswood, were fabricated by means of forged Naturalization papers, stained with coffee to divest them of their natural rawness of appearance, and otherwise fixed, up so that aliens could vote on them without fear, and Democratic election judges would take them without hesitation. Such are the means whereby Grant is to be swindled out of the Presidency, if audacious, unscrupulous villainy shall prove equal to the emergency.

Republicans! we must be so organized that fraudulent Naturalization papers shall no where pass unchallenged, and fraudulent votes be nowhere polled. To this end, we must organize in each election district beginning now.

The Pendleton Theory—What Is It?

The Chicago Times the leading Democratic organ of the North-west, spoke thus of the Pendleton theory, in its issue of December, 1867:

"The first group contains the Cincinnati plan (i. e. the Pendleton scheme). The grand feature of this scheme is what is called "payment of the National debt in greenbacks." It contemplates a new issue of greenbacks equal in amount to the bonds which it is proposed to redeem. Over twelve hundred millions of five-twenty bonds will become redeemable before 1872. Five hundred millions are redeemable now. The way to pay them, according to this plan, is to set the printing press in motion. So long as the rags and lumpblack hold out we will have no trouble in paying the bonds at maturity. When all have been thus paid, we shall have added to our paper money the trifling inflation of about $1,600,000,000. Then we shall have what are called 'good times,' 'splendid times.' Wheat and greenbacks will be exchanged bushel for bushel. A barrel of whisky will be sold for two barrels of legal tenders. Collectors of Government revenue will go about with wagons having lofty and capacious receptacles on them, like those used in handling charcoal, and will gather in the public taxes with pitchforks. To levy $5 in gold will require one horse wagon load of greenbacks. But the government bonds will be paid. The only question will be how to pay the government greenbacks. This is something the plan does not contemplate. Specie payment under it will be reached—never!"

The Registration Law.

We have noticed that for some time the Democracy have been working very hard, through their journals, to bring the Registration law of 1868 into disrepute, to educate the people in its alleged harshness and partial discrimination against the laboring man and mechanic. The course pursued by the Democracy has long since convinced us that an arrangement was being made to have the law pronounced unconstitutional. In view of all this we are able to say positively that the law will be adjudged unconstitutional by a strict party vote of the Supreme Court. We have the very highest authority for saying that such a decision is now fixed upon. Senator Wallace deems this decision necessary to enable him to carry Pennsylvania against Grant. And why? The Registration law cannot deprive any man legally entitled to the ballot of a vote. All its provisions are well calculated to guard and protect the ballot-box from fraud. But this very stringency is what renders the law obnoxious to the Democratic leaders. Hence the purpose to break down the barrier against frand at the ballot-box, and let coffee-colored naturalization papers decide the result of the great elections in this State in 1868.

It will, of course, be startling news to the able lawyers of the State, who have thoroughly examined this subject, and who are entirely convinced of the sound principle of constitutional law on which the Registration law is based, to hear it is contemplated, if not now resolved by the Supreme Court, to pronounce it unconstitutional. It is no more than right that the people should be fully apprised or these facts, in the shape we have received them, that those who regard it as a sacred duty to watch the purity of the ballot-box may be warned at once to make every effort to preserve it from pollution.—State Guard.

THE Buckeye Blacksmith, J. W. Bear, who made his debut as a stump speaker during the memorable Harrison campaign of 1840, and who is unquestionable one of the most forcible orators in the country, has again resumed the stump in favor of Grant and Colfax. Mr. Bear addressed the people of Blairsville on Wednesday night of last week. The Press of that borough says he was listened to with marked attention throughout, except a slight interruption from a drunken Democrat, who soon got more than he bargained for, when he left in disgust amidst the laughter of the crowd. Mr. Bear's references to the past were truthful and forcible, and caused many to feel that rebellion was still in existence, and could only be effectually crushed by the election of Grant and Colfax. We understand that Mr. Bear will speak during the campaign at different parts of the State, under the auspices of the Republican State Central Committee.—State Guard.

According to an act of Assembly five per cent. of Mr. Buchanan's estate goes to the State as collateral inheritance tax. It is estimated that Mr. Buchanan, during the last few years of his life, gave away from $50,000 to $90,000 to his brother, Rev. E. Y. Buchanan, and his niece, Mrs. Harriet L. Johnson, a portion of that presented to Mrs. Johnson being in Southern securities.

Loyal vs. Rebel Soldiers.

The Doylestown (Pa.) Democrat, edited by Col. W. H. H. Davis, who obtained a commission and fought ostensibly in the Union army, while his heart and his influence, through his paper, were given to the rebel cause, opens his campaign against Grant in the following paragraph:

Gen Grant, in the campaign against Lee, had 223,000 men; Lee had but 70,000. Grant lost from the Rapidan to the James, 117,000 men; Lee lost 19,000. That is, Grant lost six to Lee one, and 47,000 more than Lee's whole army. Grant constantly received reinforcements; Lee received none. Thus Grant by sweeping off six of his men for one of Lee's at last exhausted Lee's army, and compelled him to surrender. This accounts for Grant's objections to an exchange of prisoners, since one rebel soldier under Lee was equal to six Union soldiers under Grant. No policy Grant is certainly a great General.

Whether a man who would write like that had any confidential relations with the enemy while he was commanding a regiment of loyal Pennsylvania soldiers, we have no means of knowing; but "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh," and when an ex-colonel takes up his pen to make a special plea for a traitor general against a successful Union general, people can have no doubt about which side his wishes, hopes and heart have ever been, especially when we take into consideration that during the war Col. Davis' paper held the same tone.

Commenting on this paragraph, the Berks and Schuylkill Journal very appropriately says:

It is clear that in the Presidential campaign now commencing we are to have the old fight over again, and that the principles of the two parties will be just as distinctive and marked as they were in the great war of the rebellion. Gen. Grant, on the one side, heads the Union forces as he did four years ago. The other side, no matter who may be chosen to lead its columns, is as essentially Lee's army, and fighting for Jeff Davis' lost cause, as was the military army four years ago under the leadership of these rebel chiefs. The lines are thus distinctly drawn—and there can be no neutrals in the contest. It is Gen. Grant's army of loyal blue and the Stars and Stripes on the one hand—and Gen. Lee's army of rebel grey and the Stars and Bars on the other. Voters everywhere must choose between them.

The copperhead leaders and papers are making this broad distinction more and more apparent every day. They exhibit all the bitterness, and venom and hate of Union men that was manifested during the war by the rebels. They are, in truth, indiscreetly outspoken, and even go so far as to assert that the rebels in the late struggle were the true patriots, and the men who fought for the Union were the real traitors! They condemn every measure that was adopted by our Government during the war to save the republic, and apologize for and applaud every measure—even to the wholesale massacre and starving of Union soldiers—adopted by the rebels to destroy it. In the extract above quoted, as will be seen, the old rebel boasts that one southern man was equal to six Yankees, is boldly endorsed—and endorsed, too, by a professed Union Colonel of the Copperhead persuasion! Who doubts but that if the same war was to be fought over, he at least would be on the rebel side. As it is being fought over politically, we may cease to be surprised at his attack on Grant and eulogy of Lee. It is his purpose this time to fight as he votes."

As the campaign progresses and the real sentiments of the Copperhead party are more clearly exposed, Union men of all parties will feel themselves bound to volunteer once more to put down this new rebellion. We have no fear of the result. Grant is certain to be victorious, and his victory will be the final political Appomattox. After that we shall have Peace.

A Sharp State Committee.

Having pointed out how the Democrats of the XXIst Senate District of Pennsylvania, in 1867, stewed naturalization papers in coffee to make them correspond in appearance with swindling dates, and how they stole the seal of the court, together with the records, and how they furthermore murdered one of their dupes to prevent him from bearing testimony against them, it is a matter of interest to inquire what part the Democratic State Central Committee played in this drama of fraud and felony. It appears that this patriotic body, on the 17th of September, 1867, sent out a secret and confidential circular, addressed to the County Committees, recommending that the measures adopted should be "comparatively noiseless, but full of activity." The Committee did not pretend to disguise their opinion that money should be freely spent, and avowed that said money thus disbursed was better than meetings. Their plan of bribery was, in respect of whipping the devil 'round a stump, delightfully shrewd and ingenious. They recommended "a special contract with active men," to be based upon these conditions: Say "that in 1865 the District polled 100 Democratic votes; in 1866, 120 Democratic votes; now, for every Democratic vote over 110 polled we will pay a fixed sum the day after election." Here was a tempting offer for "active men," and it was undoubtedly upon this hint that the operators in the XXIst District went to work. The transfer of aliens from localities where they were not needed or were too well known to places characterized as "Republican holes," commenced. The shanties of Clearfield County were emptied, and the male inhabitants, being moved to Centre County, were furnished with naturalization papers, coffee-colored, with tax receipts, and with Democratic tickets. Thus triply armed they were marched to the polls under the guidance of Mark Lede and Michael O'Meara. This was at Phillipsburg; and it is a remarkable fact that four days after the election not one of this precious gang was to be found in the neighborhood. These ready-made citizens had all gone back to Clearfield County, and Shugart was "elected" to the State Senate by virtue of perjury, colonization, grand larceny, and the strongest of coffee.

Now, who set Mark Lede, and Michael O'Meara, and Squire Reynolds, and the rest of the conspirators to work? Who suggested the wholesale manufacture of "the papers," the robbery of the Clerk's office, and the transfer of this crowd of dupes from one point to another where they were most needed? We have seen that the first suggestion of hauling men to the polls came from the Democratic State Committee. When the iniquity was brought to light, and the Senate had taken the investigation in hand, it was quite necessary that Michael O'Meara, the agent above named, should abscond. He offered to do so for the neat sum of $2,000, and turned up his virtuous nose at $500, which it was proposed to pay him. One Tracy, who was employed to deal with O'Meara, was in constant correspondence with Senator Wallace, the Chairman of the State Committee. He reported to Wallace the avaricious contumacy of O'Meara. Wallace gave it as his opinion that $100 per month for an absence of three months would be an ample remuneration; and at last O'Meara consented to make himself scarce for the $500 originally proposed. He went off to New York, was detected there, and finally brought back to testify to the liberality, the skill, and the patriotism of the Democratic State Central Committee, of which Mr. Senator Wallace was Chairman. In view of all these interesting and romantic incidents, we would suggest to our Republican friends in Pennsylvania that the D. S. C. Committee, as it appears to be much better supplied with cash than conscience, will bear watching, in case it should incline, in 1868, to a repetition of the fantastic tricks of 1867.—Prothonotaries we would especially advise to keep the seals and blanks of their tribunals in burglar-proof safes, even if they intend to make merchandise of the one or of the other. The Democratic State Central Committee has a use for all its money, and has often been obliged to solicit charity in neighboring States. It couldn't even give the electoral vote of the State to Mr. Buchanan without begging in Boston, New York, and other benevolent cities. Under such circumstances the temptation to steal the official seals and blanks may prove irresistible, and the poor Prothonotaries be thus defrauded. Let them look to it!

Surgical Separation of the Siamese Twins, Chang and Eng.

The scientific world, and especially that portion of it who have made the study of medicine and surgery their profession, cannot fail to be intensely interested in the fact, which has recently come to our knowledge, of the determination of Chang and Eng, the Siamese twins, to submit to a surgical operation for the purpose of discovering the wonderful link that has so long bound them together. Some forty years ago these twins were introduced to the notice of the civilized world, having been brought to England from Siam in the year 1827 or 1828, by Capt Bunker, at present living in New-York, and for a series of years they were exhibited to the public at all the great centers of civilization. Having visited America, they determined to make this land their home. They bought a valuable tract of land in North Carolina, married two sisters, and settled down in the ordinary routine of a farmer's daily life. Each of them is now the father of nine children. The reason for their determination, at this late day, to call in the art of surgery to produce an entire physical separation, is, that having reached such an advanced age (59 years) they are fearful that one may become the subject of disease, which may prove fatal to both. The interesting question arises, What are the probabilities of a successful operation being performed? It will be remembered in pursuing these inquiries that the twins are held together by quite a massive link of thoroughly normal and perfectly vitalized integument, some 10 or 12 inches in circumference, situated near the vital organs, and in close proximity to the heart and lungs; and the connection is so intimate that each seems to be thoroughly an organized portion of the other, as much so as any of the ordinary members of a naturally constituted human body. Sensation, nervous impression, mental phenomena, morbid, physical, and nervo-mental conditions, all show a most perfect physical unity in this wonderful dual physical existence. The question in regard to the result of an operation is no new one, but soon after their first appearance in London and Paris it excited the minds of the foremost intellects in the surgical world. If we remember rightly, the "Twins" were exhibited before the Academy of Physicians and Surgeons in Paris at that time for the purpose of ascertaining their opinion in regard to the probabilities of a successful operation. The disagreement in regard thereto we believe led to the abandonment of the project. Has the science of surgery so rapidly advanced that to-day successful results can be promised when there was so much doubt a score or two of years ago? We understand they contemplate visiting Paris for the purpose of having the operation performed.—N. Y. Tribune.

Coffee.

Coffee is a berry, used in the manufacture of a delightful beverage and fraudulent naturalization papers. As a drink it is pleasant, hearty and stimulating to the human system. As an ingredient in coloring papers, it is noxious, poisonous and deadly in its effects on the body politic. Its use as a beverage is world wide, and for centuries Jews, Gentiles and Christians have sipped their fragrant coffee. Its application to the arts and sciences as a coloring matter was recently discovered in Philipsburg by some down-trodden exiles from Erin. From its success in changing the political complexion of Pennsylvania last fall it is expected that the use of coffee will be adopted by Democratic State committees throughout the Union this fall, who will be furnished with full directions for its preparation by Mr. Chairman Wallace—Hon. Tel.

Facts To Be Remembered.

It is a fact:

1. That the so-called Democratic party threatened, commenced and carried on the war of the rebellion.

2. That the leaders of the Democratic party were the leaders of the rebellion.

3. That the Democratic party controlled the States in rebellion.

4. That the Democratic party opposed every measure of the government to suppress the rebellion.

5. That the Democratic party discouraged enlistments in the Union army and resisted the draft.

6. That the Democratic party gave aid and comfort to the rebels in arms during the war.

7. That the Democratic party refused to give our brave and patriotic soldiers in the field, fighting for the life of the nation, the right to vote.

8. That the Democrats opposed every measure adopted by Congress to restore peace, harmony and security to the country.

9. That the Democratic party, by forcing upon the country without cause a long bloody and expensive war, created a vast public debt and imposed upon the people untold sorrows and burthens grevious to be borne.

10. That the Democratic party is responsible for the high taxes; high prices, derangement of business, etc., which are the legitimate fruits of the war.

11. That the Democratic party, having not quite ruined the country, now ask the people to give them the power to rule it.—Wash. Reporter.

Meeting of Republican County Committee.—The Republican Committee for Beaver county, for the present year, will hold its first meeting in Beaver, on Saturday July 11th, at 1 P. M. A full attendance is earnestly requested, as business of importance will be brought before it. H. HICE, Chairman.

Young persons desiring to study German or Latin, will find good instruction at the Normal School.

The Strawberry, Ice-Cream and Floral Festival held in the grove in front of the residence of Thompson Johnston, Esq., on Tuesday evening of last week, was well attended, and generously patronized. The sum of $106 was taken in from sales made on the occasion.

Persons intending to teach school, should, if possible, spend one term at the NORMAL SCHOOL, at Edinboro. It will prove of great value to them.

Portrait of Gen. Grant.—We have received from the Tickner & Fields agency, No. 38 Fifth street, Pittsburgh, Pa., Marshall's fine engraved portrait of General Grant. It is a splendid work of art, and is by all odds the most striking and perfect likeness of our next President that has yet reached the public.—Its price is low—coming within the reach of all—and this together with its excellent finish and the illustrious character of the original should give it a place in the parlor of every house in the land.

At the semi annual election of Post No. 113, G. A. R., Rochester, Pa., on Thursday evening June 25th, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing six months:

G. A. Pendleton (re-elected) P. C.; Fred. Boucher, S. V. C.; Seth. W. Whitesell, J. V. C.; Daniel A. Stover (re-elected) P. A.; James H. Calkins (re-elected) P. Q. M.; Christopher Blume, O. D; Jackson Shum, O. G.; Jno. H. Rehl, S. M.; William Kettlewood, Q. M. S.

At the request of the County Sup't, a meeting of the Committee on Permanent Certificates will be held at the Schoolhouse, in Beaver, on the 18th inst., for the transaction of important business.

G. L. EBERHART,
Chairman.

A Fine Field of Strawberries.—Messrs. J. & E. Engle of Industry township, this county, have a strawberry patch of about one and a fourth acres.—The quantity of berries taken from this patch this year was seventy-five bushels. The greater part of them were sold wholesale to Pittsburgh dealers.—From the same ground the Messrs. Engle last year gathered about 125 bushels of strawberries. The soil was in better condition last year than this.

A Terrific Thunder Storm.—On last Sunday between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, a very heavy thunder storm passed over this place. A locust tree near the residence of Mr. Aaron Moore in Beaver was struck with lightning and shivered to pieces. The rod on the residence of Mr. Solomon Zentz on the river bank conducted an electrical discharge to the ground. The building was uninjured. A telegraph pole near the station was next struck. The lightning followed the wire for a distance of about one hundred yards, doing more or less damage to eight or ten posts in its passage. But little rain fell during the storm.

The Montana Post.—We were rejoiced the other day to receive a copy of the Montana Post, published at Helena, Montana, from our old friend Mr. John B. Robertson. Mr. R. is a Beaver county man—a son of A. Robertson, Esq., the present Collector for this district—and we earnestly hope that he is enjoying good health and at the same time realizing heavy "divies" in his business operations. The Post is a good sized daily sheet, and is well filled with local mining news. It flings the names of Grant and Colfax for President and Vice-President. "Long may it live" to do battle for the good cause. In a marginal note Mr. R. says: "The ARGUS reaches me regularly once a week."

The Coming Harvest.—The New York Tribune, on a review of the crop reports from all sections, comes to the conclusion that, as regards the Southern States, should no accident occur, there will be realized from the agricultural industry of that section in 1868 a sum of money which will go far towards restoring the prosperity of the South, and in bringing the foreign exchange largely in our favor. The wheat crop of the extreme South is being harvested, and in quality and in quantity is satisfactory. The corn never looked better. Cotton is also reported as very promising, and a crop of three million bales is considered reasonably sure. The cane is also in fine condition, and one hundred thousand hogsheads of sugar are reported, in place of forty thousand in 1867. At the North, in spite of the wet weather, the leading crops are promising. Hay was never more promising, and, with grain, is reported upon favorably. There is still time for corn and vegetables of all sorts, the whole yielding to the agricultural interests a mass of wealth which insures prosperity in all departments of trade. The reports from the crops in the wheat growing territory of the Northwest are favorable in the mass, and every line of road from the Missouri river to New York promises to the country to have more than it can do.

Mr. Editor: In looking over some papers which I gathered during the two years I was in the Freedman's Bureau in Georgia, I found the following relic of Slavery which I send to you with the supposition that it may be of interest to your readers:

"AUGUSTA, GA., April 20, 1864.

"Mr. Chafe, To Richmond county Jail, Dr.

For 19 Days' Board on Dianah @ $3	$57.00
" Turnkey's Fee,	1.20
" Correction,	1.00
" Magistrates Cost,	11.05
	$70.15

Received payment,
T. C. BARNARD,
Jailor.

Dianah was a young colored woman in the employ of Mr. Chafe, and who, without the fear of the law before her eyes, presumed to teach some little colored children to distinguish A from B. For this offence she was arrested and thrown into jail as a felon, and duly corrected—that is whipped on the bare back—to the amount of one dollar, as charged in the above bill, and which varied from 30 to 50 lashes well laid on by a stout animal wearing the outward semblance of a man. This bill, together with the fee of a lawyer, had to be paid by Dianah's uncle, it all amounting to more than one hundred dollars in gold. The entire history as given to me by "Uncle Billy," as he is called—that is Dianah's uncle—is full of interest, and goes far to show the brutalising influences which Slavery exerted, but it is too lengthy to give in this article. A few months previous to Dianah's arrest, a colored man—"Uncle Purdy"—aged 70 years was arrested for the same offense, thrown into jail, received 60 lashes on the bare back, and fined $60. He was incarcerated 12 days, when his brother slaves paid his fine, upon which he was released—and all this in a country which boasts of its freedom and its christianity! What cause have we for gratitude to God that the barbarous institution has been abolished! G. L. E.

Sad Accident in Rochester.—A very melancholy accident occurred near the railroad bridge, in Rochester, this county, on last Thursday evening.—A Mr. Davison, of the firm of Mair & Davison, in company with his son aged about twelve years, went into the creek on that evening for the purpose of bathing. They had been in but a short time, when both got into water beyond their depth, and before assistance could be rendered they both sank to rise no more, alive. The bodies of both father and son have been recovered. Mr. Davison had just brought his family from Pittsburgh to Rochester the day before, and intended making the latter place his future home. He is said to have been a gentleman of considerable means, and purposed investing largely in the manufacturing business in Rochester at no distant day.—The melancholy accident has occasioned a deep gloom among the relatives and friends of the deceased persons.

Pole-Raising at Homewood.—On last Thursday evening the friends of Grant and Colfax, residing in and near Homewood, this county, raised a pole in honor of our standard bearers. On it is a beautiful flag some ten or twelve feet in length and about seven feet in width, and a streamer twenty-six feet in length. The pole is ninety feet above ground and is as straight as an arrow. Quite a crowd of sturdy Republicans were present on the occasion. Short and spirited addresses were delivered by Messrs. Boyle, Metzger and Wallace. This, we believe, is the first pole raised by either political party in the county in the present campaign, and we congratulate the Homewood Republicans on being the first to open the ball.

OHIO CORRESPONDENCE.

UPPER SANDUSKY, OHIO, JULY 3D, 1868.

To the Editor of The Argus:

DEAR SIR: Some enquiries have been made by some of my Beaver friends, to know the result of the Bowsher murder trial. Allow me to state to them, through the Argus, that she was tried on one of the three indictments at the May term. After ten days in empanneling a Jury and trying the case, she was acquitted. She was tried for the murder of her son William. It was proven that he died from the effects of Arsenic, but a drunken Physician testified that he sold him Arsenic, which left a doubt in the minds of the Jury. She is in jail to answer for the murder of her two daughters, Olive and Fannie. A strong chain of evidence was produced on the former trial, and the Council for the State are confident of their ability to convict her. Public opinion is strong against her.

The weather has been exceedingly warm for the past few days. Crops look fine;—they never looked more promising. The prospect of the new crop of wheat has brought flour down from $11 to $10, and wheat has came down 75 cts. per bushel.

The fruit crop is good, with the exception of peaches—they were killed "root and branch" by the hard freeze in March.

Extensive preparations are being made to celebrate the 4th in an appropriate manner. The performances will be conducted under the auspices of the Fire Department. Quite a number of Fire, Hose, and Hook and Ladder Companies are expected, and also Base Ball clubs. A large premium will be paid to the best performers in each class.

I will close, hoping that the Beaverites will enjoy a pleasant 4th. "WYANDOTT."

A Business Notice.—The Chicago Tribune contains the following advertisement, and calls the attention of Democrats to it;

U. S. GRANT. SCHUYLER COLFAX.

Grant & Colfax, Tanners, Washington, D. C., respectfully inform the people of the United States, that they will be engaged in tanning some old rotten Democratic hides, until after the 10th day of November, 1868. The senior member of the firm having considerable experience in the business, thinks that, by the help of his partner, all work will be done in a satisfactory manner. References—Generals Buckner, Pemberton, R. E. Lee, and other distinguished persons of the same persuasion.

"THE COPPERHEAD."

If John Hopkey don't know the Copperhead, inside and out, there's nobody living where. Unless reading on furiously were turned off, during the year, 1 million, is what John says, in the Bucyrus Journal, of June 5:

Of all the factious men we've seen,
Existing now or long since dead,
No one was ever known so mean
As him we call Copperhead.
A draft evading Copperhead;
A rebel aiding Copperhead;
A growling, slandering,
Scowling, pandering,
Vicious States' rights Copperhead.

From him the decencies of life
And all its courtesies have fled;
He lives in fretful, factious strife;
A testy, touchy, Copperhead:
A negro fearing Copperhead;
A rebel cheering Copperhead;
An unlearned, unlicked,
Oft spurned, oft whipped,
Doughfaced, cringing Copperhead.

When "Save the Union," was the cry,
And thousands for the Union bled,
The nation's right he did deny
To save itself:—this Copperhead;
A Son of Liberty Copperhead;
A Golden Circle Copperhead;
A scheming, lying,
Screaming, flying,
Mean, Canadian Copperhead.

When Southern miscreants designed,
Their helpless prisoners' blood to shed,
And Libby prison undermined;
Who then approved? The Copperhead;
The soldier shooting Copperhead;
The patriot hooting Copperhead;
The war abusing,
Aid refusing,
Crime excusing Copperhead.

Who scoffed at Pillow's bloody fray,
And Andersonville's murdered dead?
Who victory's hour did long delay?
The traitorous, treacherous Copperhead.
The crime creating Copperhead;
Assassinating Copperhead;
The strife exciting,
Wrath inviting,
Death delighting Copperhead.

When widows mourned their lonely lot,
And orphan children wept their dead;
Who said their just deserts they got?
The Northern rebel Copperhead.
The widow libelling Copperhead;
The grief deriding Copperhead;
The false, conspiring,
City firing,
Booth admiring Copperhead.

Nor woman's grief, nor orphan's tears,
Nor even a Nation's honored dead,
Are sacred from the jibs and sneers,
Of every brutal Copperhead;
Each church is opening Copperhead;
Each preacher cursing Copperhead?
Each Union hating,
War creating,
Repudiating Copperhead.

Crawl to your dunghill viper, crawl,
For General Grant with conquering tread,
Marches to crush the thing men call,
In politics, a Copperhead;
A Democratic Copperhead;
A vile fanatic Copperhead;
A murder jeering,
Widow sneering,
Assassin cheering Copperhead.

Attention Post 99.—The members of Post No. 99 G. A. R., of Beaver, Pa., are requested to meet in their Hall in Beaver, on Wednesday evening July 8th, at 8½ P. M. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance will be brought before the Post.

By order of
C. A. GRIFFIN,
JNO. HANTON, P. A. pro tem. S. V. C.

The 4th of July at the Soldiers' Orphan School at Phillipsburgh.—By special invitation of Rev. W. G. Taylor, a goodly number of the citizens of those villages assembled with the Soldiers' Orphan School and participated in the festivities of the occasion.

At about four o'clock a sumptuous dinner was served up in the spacious dining hall; and hundreds partook to satiety. Dinner being over, the whole company repaired to the orchard, where a rostrum had been erected and seats prepared. The meeting was organized by calling Dr. J. Murray to the chair, and electing M. Weyand, Esq., Sec'y. J. F. Dravo, Esq., addressed the Throwm of Grace, and the school sang "Hail Thrice Happy Day." One of the young ladies read an address of welcome, and the school favored the audience with another song.

At this point a call was made for remarks, when the following gentlemen responded in short speeches, in the following order: Dr. J. Murray, Rev. Jemison, Lieut. Harrah, Esq., J. F. Dravo, S. J. Cross, M. Weyand, Esq., and Rev. W. G. Taylor. The meeting was then favored with a song by the school.

The following toasts were then read by the Sec'y:

1st. The day we celebrate—the 4th of July—may it be commemorated until the end of time.

2nd. The Revolutionary Fathers—may their deeds and names be ever cherished by American citizens as priceless legacies.

3rd. Our Republican Institutions—may they be perpetuated and extended to all the nations of the earth.

4th. To the Union Soldiers of the late war—whose heroic deeds have preserved to us the fairest, the freest government ever devised by human wisdom.

5th. To Hon Andrew G. Curtin, Gov. Geary, and their co-laborers in originating and fostering the Soldiers' Orphans' Schools of Pennsylvania—their generous devotion and self-sacrificing efforts in behalf of the children of those who fell in defence of human liberty, entitle them to a place among the country's benefactors.

6th. To the Soldiers' Orphans'—We meet with you to day, to tender you our sympathies and our prayers. Rev. W. G. Taylor and family—faithful and devoted to the trust committed to their keeping—they have well earned, and are entitled to the gratitude and confidence of every good citizen of this commonwealth. The Guests joined with the school in singing that glorious old National hymn—the Star Spangled Banner. And the meeting was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Jemison.

The citizens present departed for their homes, well pleased that they had braved the oppressive heat, and breathing a hearty prayer for the prosperity of teachers and children.

Flags and Goods for Campaign Purposes.—Attention is called to the advertisement in another column of J. W. Pittock. He has on hand now and will keep a full supply of all necessary campaign goods. These will consist of all descriptions of Flags—silk, bunting, and printed muslin, all sizes—with or without names of candidates—medals, pins, charms, badges, banners, transparencies, portraits, &c., &c. His is the most extensive and well appointed establishment of the kind in Pittsburgh, and we have every reason to believe that his prices will be found satisfactory to all. Local political clubs will find it to their interest to call at Pittock's, opposite the Post-office in Pittsburgh, when in search of goods for their organizations.

A Heavy Hail Storm.—We are informed by persons residing north and north-west of Beaver, that a very heavy hail storm passed over that section of the country, on last Sunday evening, between four and five o'clock. The hail continued to descend for about half an hour, knocking apples, cherries, plums, &c., from the trees in its descent, and in some places coming with such force as to break the glass in exposed windows in houses. A heavy wind and rain succeeded the hail storm, which laid the grain and grass so completley, that the hay-making which was contemplated this week, will be considerably retarded. Whether the grain is injured permanently or not, we would not venture to say; but we think no material injury will result from the storm, in this respect.

Public Examination.—An examination of teachers for the New Brighton schools, will be held in the Public Schoolhouse at New Brighton, on the seventeenth of July, commencing at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. All persons interested, are respectfully invited to attend. JAMES WHITHAM,
June 20th, 1868. Co. Sup't.

This being about the season when farmers are packing the cash for their wool, there are reports of very extensive combinations of thieves, who are organizing for raids through the wool-growing districts, expecting to plunder the farmers' houses.

GRATE FRONTS and FENDERS, &c., &c.

Ruby Cooking Stove Nos. 7, 8 & 9.

THIS STOVE TOOK THE FIRST PREMIUM AT the State Fair as a Coal Cooking Stove, and also at the Lake County Fair. We use no scrap iron in their manufacture, but make them exclusively of No. 1 Pig Metal, and warrant them in every respect.

The Ruby has the largest oven in the market and consumes but little fuel in baking, owing to our improved Grate.

GRATE FRONTS AND FENDERS.

We are largely engaged in the manufacture of Grate Fronts and Fenders, which we enamel in an oven common, second quality and fine finish. This enamel retains its lustre for a long time, will not burn off, and makes a much superior finish to that of Coal Tar.

SUMMER PIECES.

We are also making Sheet Iron Summer Pieces (for which we have applied for a patent) pressed up in a Hydraulic press. They are much lighter than cast Iron, and much cheaper.

HEATING STOVES.

We claim the heaviest heating Stove in the market for the size, and use the best Stock in their construction.

Our patterns are not yet complete, but it is our intention to keep a general assortment in our line.

We also took the Premium at the County Fair for Castings generally, and we have entered in to the business with the determination to use the best of Pig Metal and make good work.

We respectfully request a share of the public patronage, and would be pleased to see those wanting anything in our line at our woks.

It is a settled fact that it is driving all the other machines from the market. The amount sold is astonishing. In Pittsburgh and vicinity fifty per week, and the Company is selling two thousand per month.

ROCHESTER FOUNDRY.

ANDERSON, ARBUCKLE & CO.

MANUFACTURERS OF MACHINE CASTINGS, Railway Track and Car Castings, Agricultural Implements, Engine and all other Castings made at a first class Foundry. Also, Stoves, Grate Fronts, Grate Bars, Linoe Seat, Weights, Hollow-Ware, Kettles, Iron Fences, and all other Castings called for, on short notice and of the very best metal.

Also, J. J. Anderson's justly celebrated New Cook Stove for Coal and Wood, which took the

First Premium

At the State Fair recently held at Pittsburgh. This Stove combines many new and important principles, which place it far in advance of all others now in use. Some of the merits claimed for it by the Inventor, are Heavy Metal, Well Proportioned, Beauty of Style and Finish, Ease of Draft, Easily Kept Clean, Requires but little Fuel, and the BEST BAKER EXTANT.

All orders thankfully received and promptly filled.

We Call Attention to the Following Statements:

While living in the East I used several of the most Celebrated Cooking Stoves made in that part of the country, and on my arrival here, I was recommended to purchase the Crystal Palace Stove, (also invented by Mr. Anderson) as being the best. I did so, and used it with good satisfaction. When I saw Mr. Anderson's new Stove, I was attracted by its neat appearance, and on examining its Oven and interior arrangements, found it possessed many advantages over all I had seen. I purchased, and have one now in use. We consider it superior to any we have ever used. It is all the Inventor claims, and we think, all that could be desired in a Cooking Stove.

CAPT. GILBERT PENDLETON.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 21st.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse Capt. Pendleton's statement.

JOHN H. WHEELER.

Having one of Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse the above recommendation.

J. WOODRUFF.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, we are fully satisfied with its good qualities in all respects.

JOSEPH IRVIN AND WIFE.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25th.

Having kept house for a long time, and used a great number of Cook Stoves of different patterns and styles, I consider J. J. Anderson's new Stove, in point of economy in fuel, ready cooking and baking for its size, superior to any we have used, and cheerfully recommend it, believing it will render entire satisfaction.

CHAS. LUKENS.

We have one of Mr. J. J. Anderson's new Stoves, manufactured at the Rochester Foundry, and having given it a fair trial, we find it comes fully up to all that has been claimed for it. It heats very rapidly, takes but little fuel, and is a most excellent baker. Mr. Anderson may congratulate himself on having achieved quite a triumph in the line of Cooking Stoves.

Very respectfully,

MARSHALL'S LINE ENGRAVING

OF

NOW READY.

THIS SPLENDID LINE ENGRAVING IS THE RESult of two years' labor on the part of the artist, Mr. William E. Marshall, who stands at the head of his profession in the United States. It is pronounced a perfect likeness of General Grant in his best expression, by the members of his family and those who have been personally acquainted with him for many years. As a work of art it is immeasurably superior to all others. Mrs. Grant says: "I am delighted with your splendid engraving of my husband. As a likeness I do not think it could go better." Senator Sumner pronounces it "a rare and finished work, excellent as a likeness." Mr. Bryant says: "It is really a noble specimen of the art of engraving and appears to me to give the character of the original more perfectly than any engraving which I have seen. Gen. Howard considers "the likeness striking, and the picture life-like." Mr. Huntington, the eminent artist says: "It has a large, massive style, and great force and richness. The best thing about it is the truth with which you have rendered the indomitable spirit of the man." Agents wanted in every Township. Address.
